

Student Scholarship Award Process

DESCRIPTION

The International Society for Agricultural Safety and Health established a scholarship fund to support college students with accepted abstracts to the annual conference.

$500 and waived conference fees will be awarded to 10 students.

The Student Scholarship Award is available to all students, both undergraduate and graduate, who are involved in agricultural safety and health and looking for funding to attend the conference related to their academic or professional goals.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must be enrolled full time and be in good standing at an accredited university or college located internationally or in the United States.

Research abstracts must already have been accepted by the Professional Improvement Committee and forwarded to Research and Development for determination of award.

Multiple author submissions are acceptable, but the student applicant must be the designated presenter of the research. If there are multiple student authors, only the first author may apply for these funds. If the student applicant has been accepted to present more than one paper or poster, she or he must choose only one paper/poster presentation to use when applying for this award.

HOW TO APPLY

Criteria for the award include, but are not limited to:

1. Scientific merit of research methods or programs
2. Clarity of research or research goals
3. Results clearly demonstrate or suggest improvements in injury prevention or safety practice.
4. Significance of impacts and outcomes for injury prevention or improved safety and health practice.
